

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I.	INTRODUCTION - BRAZIL MUST CHOOSE THE RIGHT INNOVATION vs. OPPORTUNISM	PATH:
	The Purpose of This White Paper	17
	Brazil Promotes a New Global Paradigm that Favors IP Opportunism	19
	Brazil's Innovation Conundrum	21
	Private Property and the Established International Order	23
	Exclusive Private Property Rights are Essential for Innovation	30
	Brazil Must Choose the 'Right Path'	37
II.	BRAZIL CHALLENGES THE ESTABLISHED GLOBAL IPR FRAMEWORK
A.	BRAZIL ACTIVELY ENGAGES IN 'REGIME SHIFTING' TO REFORM INTERNATIONAL IP LAW	39
	The Notion of 'Regime-Shifting'	39
	IPR Regime Shifting from TRIPS to UNHRC and WHO	45
	Brazil's IPR Regime Shifting Recognized by WHO and Latin America	61
	IPR Shifting from WTO to UNEP/CBD	66
B.	BRAZIL ACTIVELY PROMOTES A NEW INTERNATIONAL PARADIGM OF 'OPEN SOURCE' / 'UNIVERSAL ACCESS' TO KNOWLEDGE (A2K)	72
	'Open Source' Methods (OSM)	73
	Brazil's Efforts to Nationalize 'Open Source' Methods	81
	Brazil's Efforts to Internationalize 'Open Source' Methods	85
	At the World Summit on the Information Society
	At the World Intellectual Property Organization
	Brazil's OSM Regime-Shifting Has Trade Protectionist Undertones	97
C.	BRAZIL'S CHALLENGE TO THE GLOBAL IPR FRAMEWORK AIMS TO 'TAKE' (REDISTRIBUTE) PRIVATE PROPERTY (ECONOMIC WEALTH) FOR 'PUBLIC USE' WITHOUT 'JUST' COMPENSATION	101
	Property and the U.S. Constitution: Individual vs. Public Rights	101
	Individual Natural Rights Include the Right to Private Property	102
	Patents are Exclusive Private Personal Property	104

Trade Secrets Are Exclusive Private Personal Property	105
The Bill of Rights Limits Government Action Against Exclusive Private Property	106
Federal Government Action – Just Compensation
State and Local Government Action – Takings
Direct and Indirect Takings
Takings for Public Use
U.S. Private Property Rights Are Entitled to Constitutional Protection Abroad	115
Constitutional Limitations on the Federal Treaty-Making Power

D. BRAZIL SHOULD NOT RELY UPON THE HISTORY OF INDUSTRIAL OPPORTUNISM TO JUSTIFY ITS CURRENT BEHAVIOR 120

Opportunism - Historically Speaking	121
America
Germany
Japan
China
India
Brazil

III. THE TOOLS OF INNOVATION

A. PATENT-BASED INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY IS VALUABLE 137

Intellectual Property is the Key to Innovation	137
---	-----

B. EXCLUSIVE TEST DATA AND TRADE SECRETS ARE VALUABLE INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY 144

The General Case for Protecting Test Data and Trade Secrets	144
The Economic Underpinnings	145
The Legal Underpinnings	147
Trade Secrets at Common Law
Unfair Competition at Common Law
Data Exclusivity (Hatch-Waxman) and Regulatory Non-Disclosure
Data Exclusivity and TRIPS

IV. ACQUIRING THE TOOLS OF INNOVATION

A. BRAZIL SHOULD ADOPT IPR PROTECTIONS TO ATTRACT FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTMENT 157

	IPR Protections Are Important to Foreign Investors	157
	IPR Protections and the Enabling Environment Can Influence Investment Composition	163
B.	BRAZIL MUST DEVELOP AN EFFICIENT NATIONAL INNOVATION SYSTEM	174
	Generally	174
	Brazil's Emerging National Innovation System	175
	The Difficulties Encountered
	Brazil's New Innovation Law
	Comparing Other State-Centric National Innovation Systems	192
	The Private Property-based U.S. Innovation System	200
	Background
	Conditions and Obligations
	Benefits
C.	BRAZIL SHOULD UNLEASH THE INNOVATIVE CAPACITY OF ITS IP-RICH INDUSTRIES	209
	Brazil Boasts Many IP-Rich and Technologically Capable Industries	209
	Life Sciences Industries	211
	Pharmaceuticals
	Biotechnology
	Medical Biotech
	Environmental Biotech
	Agro Biotech
	1) Sugar Cane
	2) Papaya, Corn, Soy
	Chemicals
	Computer Software & E-Commerce	222
V.	BENEFITING FROM FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTMENT AND IPR PROTECTION
A.	BRAZIL'S INCREASING TRADE SURPLUS MAY NOT COMPENSATE FOR ITS DECLINING FDI	225
	The Ebb and Flow of FDI to Brazil	225
	Brazil Should Not Take MNC-Driven FDI Flows for Granted	227
B.	BRAZIL MAY DERIVE INNOVATION BENEFITS FROM FDI-RELATED KNOWLEDGE SPILLOVERS	235

	Indigenous Capacity-Building	235
	Clustered SMEs Realize Potentially Greater Benefits	235
	Benefits Depend on Local SME-MNC Dynamic	243
	Benefits May Ultimately Depend on Structural Policy Changes	246
C.	BRAZIL MAY DERIVE INNOVATION BENEFITS FROM BILATERAL SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY AGREEMENTS	248
	The Importance of Science and Technology R&D	248
	Brazil
	The United States
	U.S. Pharmaceutical/ Biotechnology R&D
	S&T Outsourcing
	The Important Role Served By Bilateral Science and Technology Agreements	255
	Brazil – U.S. Science and Technology Cooperation	257
D.	BRAZIL MAY DERIVE BENEFITS FROM CONTINUED OFFICIAL PROJECT DEVELOPMENT FUNDING	259
	Inter-American Development Bank Brazil Programs	259
E.	BRAZIL MAY DERIVE BENEFITS FROM INCREASED HI-TECH IMPORT FINANCING AND INSURANCE UNDERWRITING	268
	U.S. Export-Import Bank Programs	268
	Overseas Private Investment Corporation Programs	272
F.	BRAZIL MAY DERIVE BENEFITS FROM CONTINUED EXPORT TRADE PREFERENCES	274
	Brazil's Growing GSP-Eligible Exports to the U.S.	274
	Brazil's GSP Status Could Be Lost if IPR Opportunism Continues	275
VI.	CONCLUSION - BRAZIL'S CONDUCT COMPROMISES ITS ABILITY TO ACQUIRE THE TOOLS OF INNOVATION
A.	WHAT OTHER COUNTRIES ARE DOING TO STRENGTHEN IPRs AND ENHANCE THEIR ABILITY TO INNOVATE	283
	Patents	283
	China
	India
	Jordan

	Singapore
	Mexico, Chile and Morocco
	Indonesia
	Korea
	Test Data and Trade Secrets	298
B.	BRAZIL MUST EVOLVE	299
	Brazil Suffers From an Identity Crisis	299
	Other Countries Will Not Pay for Brazil's Continued Opportunism	302
	ENDNOTES	307