

Chers sponsors cet espace est pour vous

Tanmia, le portail du développement au Maroc

Articles syndiqués

Visiter la rubrique

- ▶ ICT sur DG: Workshop on Establishing Public Private Partnerships for ICT Initiatives
- ▶ ICT sur DG: Africa : Why affordable international bandwidth matters ?
- ▶ ICT sur DG: Fibre for Africa : Opening up Affordable Bandwidth in Africa
- ▶ ICT sur DG: Africover Mapping Tools and Software Family
- ▶ ICT sur DG: **The Great Brazilian IP-Train Robbery**

<http://topics.developmentgateway.org/ict/rc/ItemDetail.do~1094333?intcmp=3007>

dgCommunities Knowledge Sharing and Collaboration Worldwide

English | Español | Français

View more >>

dgCommunities AiDA dgMarket Country Resources

Home > dgCommunities > Information and Communica... > Content > The Great Brazilian IP-Tr...

The Great Brazilian IP-Train Robbery

This article published by the Institute for Trade, Standards and Sustainable Development (ITSSD) focuses on Brazil's pursuit of Global IP Law Reforms that will weaken US Private Property Rights. From the introduction: "Princeton, NJ – March 19, 2007 – In a new University of Miami Inter-American Law Review article entitled, Brazil's IP Opportunism Threatens US Private Property Rights, trade and regulatory expert Lawrence Kogan tracks how Brazil is navigating internationally to 'railroad' the great American engine of intellectual property-based innovation and economic growth." PDF Document.